

Summary

Fedorova Svetlana Valerievna, born in 1965, higher education, associate professor, candidate of technical sciences, since February 2018 she has been working as an assistant professor at the Department of PE and Belarusian Railways

The main load is presented in the form of lectures, conducting practical and laboratory classes, in the disciplines: "Information Technologies in the Field of Security," "Information Technologies in the Management of Technosphere Security," in the direction of training "Technosphere Security" for BZHTm and PBm undergraduates; "Life Safety" in the areas of training: "Radio Engineering," "Infocommunication Technologies and Communication Systems," for bachelors.

The material of the courses is fluent, gives lectures and conducts practical and laboratory classes at a high educational and methodological level using multimedia teaching tools.