

BACHELOR

38.03.01 "Economic and Finance of the Fuel and Energy Sector"

Qualification: Economist

Learning outcomes:

After completing the program, graduates will be able to conduct a financial and economic analysis of organizations in the fuel and energy complex, including using modern technical means and special programs, as well as assess the financial risks of organizations in the fuel and energy complex and develop a set of protective measures.

Spheres of employment:

- Financial departments at enterprises and in the management bodies of the Fuel and energy complex
- Service and production and technology companies in the fuel and energy sector
- Commercial banks
- Sector bodies of the Federal level and subjects of the Federation, in the field of foreign economic activity, regulating the activities of the Fuel and energy complex
- Commercial structures of the expert advisory community

Irkutsk
National Research
Technical University